ALLIES POUR INTO UPPER RHINE VALLEY

SIX ARMIES HEAP PRESSURE AT QUICKENING PACE ALONG THE ENTIRE WESTERN FRONT

U. S. Seventh and Third, Swarming Eastward Into French-American Scissors, Find Nazi Resistance Disorganized

SEVENTH BREAKS THROUGH INTO SARREBOURG

By WILLIAM FRYE

London, Nov. 21.—(P)—French armor struck up along the Rhine toward Mulhouse and Colmar today in a flanking threat undermining the German stand for 100 miles to the north.

Belfort, bypassed city guarding the Rhine, was captured. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower disclosed in calling for ever-increasing pressure until victory.

Six Allied armies were heaping on this pressure at a quickening pace. The U. S. Seventh and Third Armies, swarming eastward in the other blade of a French-American scissors, hit into broken Nazi resistance described officially as sporadic and disorganized.

Berlin said Seventh Army troops had broken into Sarrebourg, a rail-highway junction 32 miles from the Rhine. Armor of the Third Army farther north wheeled deep-ly into the Saar Basin.

An unconfirmed Swiss report said the French were attempting to bridge the Rhine southeast of Mulhouse. An assault was reported underway on Mulhouse itself.

At the north end of the front, beyond Aachen, American and British armies had cut through fierce German opposition to within some three miles of the Roer river, the last natural defense barrier short of the Rhine near Cologne.

British troops in southeastern Holland were eliminating the Nazis from the west banks of the Maas before Venlo, a gate to the Ruhr.

In the battle area east and northeast of Aachen, the American First and Ninth Armies and the British Second Army pushed their lines slowly toward Cologne—approximately 26 miles beyond the American vanguards—and the Rhine again increasingly furious German resistance marked by tank-led counterattacks which failed to stop the Allied drive to crack the Reich's strongest defenses.

The Germans threw 20 to 30 tanks against American Ninth Army units at Schleiden, seven miles southeast of captured Gelnkirchen, but Lt. Gen. William H. Simpson's men repulsed this blow and advanced a mile and a half northeast capturing Aldenhoven on the road to Jülich, three miles away. Jülich is a bastion on the Roer river, a strong natural defense barrier before the Rhine.

Earlier the Ninth Army breached a formidable 10-mile-long German antitank ditch.

Down With Hitler Posters in Berlin

Stockholm, Nov. 21.—(P)—The newspaper Aftonbladet published an undated, unattributed story today saying numerous posters proclaiming "down with Hitler" appeared on the streets of Berlin yesterday and were torn down immediately by police and SS men. The posters were reported to have said:

"On Nov. 20, 1942, the destruction of the German Seventh (SIC) army began at Stalingrad under Hitler's orders. On Nov. 20, 1944 begins the destruction of Hitler and his hangers-on who sacrificed the German people that they might live. Germany must not go under as did the Seventh (SIC) army. Therefore—down with Hitler!"

(The German Sixth Army was destroyed at Stalingrad with 330,000 casualties.)

Scarcity of Cigarettes Hits G. I. Smoker in England

Washington, Nov. 21.—(P)—From the Pentagon went this word of cheer today to G.I.s in London where cigarette sales have been halted at all but air force combat stations:

It's only temporary. Army officials here did not know how long the ban would be on "but obviously they won't be denied cigarettes indefinitely."

London, Nov. 21.—(P)—The halting of cigarette sales at all U. S. army post exchanges in England except at Air Force Combat Stations led the army newspaper Stars and Stripes today to demand an answer from Washington "to the question which is in the mind of every G.I. smoker—where are the cigarettes?"

The army said a critical shortage and priorities for combat forces on the continent caused the near-

Greater Supplies Necessary To Crush Germany Supreme Commander Declares in Talk

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, Paris, Nov. 21.—(P)—Gen. Eisenhower declared today his plan for future operations is to increase pressure steadily all along the western front until the Germans are crushed.

To do this, greater supplies are necessary, the supreme commander of the western front said.

"I want more supplies than we are getting and I think the soldier wants more than he is getting, both now and in the future," he said.

"To get peace, we have got to fight like hell for it," the commander said. "Now let's do it."

Eisenhower appeared fit as ever after a tour of all parts of the fighting zone, and said he was especially happy over the French breakthrough to the Rhine.

"No single instance has pleased me so much in a long while as the capture of Belfort by the gallant French army and its reaching the Rhine," Eisenhower said.

The general told correspondents that his plans were to hit and hammer the Germans with increasing pressure, reaching its peak on the day the Nazis finally surrender.

"Unless everyone all the way through the nations—those at the front and those at home—keep on the job everlastingly and with mounting intensity, we are only postponing the day of victory," Eisenhower declared.

"The very maximum effort must be made on the day of surrender," Eisenhower declined to make any prediction as to when the war would end and said his call for all-out effort both at the front and at home was his "prescription for victory."

He said the weather had prevented a full effort in the air in the current offensive.

In asking for more supplies, the general made it clear that he was not criticizing the efforts of the home fronts in Allied countries up to now, but simply stating that still more material would be needed as still greater numbers of soldiers are committed to battle.

He said the people had every reason to be optimistic as he himself is, but should guard against becoming complacent.

Plan Action To Halt Rising Living Costs

Washington, Nov. 21.—(P)—Action to reverse recent price rises, is expected shortly, designed as an assurance to workers that living costs will not outrun pay-scales.

Climaxing a series of administrative moves all pointing to a decision to hold on to the principle of the "little steel" wage formula until after V-E day, Price Administrator Chester Bowles called a news conference for this afternoon.

The conference was arranged on short notice following Sunday's statement by Economic Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson that "disturbing" advances in costs of living, especially in textiles and clothing, "must stop."

Observers believed Bowles was ready to:

U. S. NAVAL LOSSES NOW STAND AT 228

Washington, Nov. 21.—(P)—Announced U. S. naval losses since the beginning of the war stood at 228 today, the navy reported in disclosing the loss of 10 vessels in the Pacific.

A communiqué said the vessels were not lost in the big Philippine battles of Oct. 24-25. The losses were attributed to enemy action on the perils of the sea.

Lost in Philippine waters were the destroyer Abner Read, the destroyer escort Eversole, the mine sweeper YMS 70, PTs 320 and 321, the fleet tug Sonoma and the landing craft (infantry) 1065. The other vessels were the destroyer escort Shelton and the PTs 368 and 371.

691,989 Prisoners Taken Since D-Day

By the Associated Press

Allied armies on the western front have captured at least 691,989 prisoners since D-Day, the equivalent of 69 German divisions as presently constituted. About two-thirds, or 424,124 were caged by the four American armies.

Latest announced totals showed:

U. S. First Army 200,128
U. S. Third Army 117,400
U. S. Seventh Army 59,916
U. S. Ninth Army 55,670
British First Army 57,939
British Second Army 94,794
Canadian First Army 95,132
French Forces of Interior with British and Canadian Armies 20,000

JAP ISLANDS BLASTED BY SUPERFORTS

Large Task Force of B-29's From China Bases Raid Industrial Targets On Kyushu

RESULTS ARE STUDIED

BULLETIN

Washington, Nov. 21.—(P)—The huge Omura aircraft factory on the southernmost Japanese home island of Kyushu was blasted for the third time today by B-29 Superfortresses.

Adverse weather diverted part of the mission, operating in large force, resulting in two other strikes—one at the docks of Nanjing and the other at Shanghai against military storage and trans-shipment facilities. A 20th Airforce communiqué said 20 attacking planes were destroyed together with 16 probably destroyed and 19 damaged in the course of the operation.

It was the first time that a B-29 mission had encountered fighter plane opposition in strength. There was little anti-aircraft opposition, however.

Washington, Nov. 21.—(P)—Superfortresses in heavy strength blasted the Japanese homeland island of Kyushu again today, Washington announced.

American Superfortresses struck 70 or 80 waves at Nagasaki and Omura areas of western Kyushu island in southern Japan.

General H. H. Arnold as commanding general of the 20th Air Force, made the brief announcement, as to results and possible losses of any of the big bombers, "when further details are available."

Washington's first report said merely that "a large task force of B-29 aircraft" attacked industrial targets on Kyushu, the mission being carried out from China bases by General Curtis E. LeMay's 20th Bomber Command.

On the previous B-29 raids against Kyushu, the big aircraft center of Omura was the primary target. On Oct. 25 Omura was hit hard and then on Nov. 11 the B-29's returned in a mission to destroy all the center's structures still left standing.

Kyushu is the most southern of the Japanese homeland islands.

The Tokyo broadcast, recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, asserted Japanese interceptors engaged the B-29's in "fierce air duels that raged from 9:45 a. m. to 11 a. m. (Tokyo time). Broadcasters asserted eight Superfortresses were shot down and another damaged.

A Domei news agency report predicted that later Japanese radio accounts would report higher "enemy losses" after an "investigation of the air battle."

It was bad enough being sent home from the army, but Jimmy discovered soon after he got back that he probably would have to return to the fifth grade schoolroom he left to join the army. State law requires school attendance for all children under 16.

I. Harry Goldberg, a legionnaire and re-employment counselor of the draft board through which Jimmy was inducted, agreed with Jimmy, who's five foot ten, and weighs 175, that he'd be sort of out of place in the fifth grade.

"We went to bat for him under the GI bill of rights," explained Goldberg. "Through the Veterans Administration, we arranged to have him enrolled in the Donnelly Vocational Trade school and he'll be entitled to 23 months' training and be paid $50 a month."

White House Decides Myers is Elected

Washington, Nov. 21.—(P)—It isn't official, according to the election clerks, but the White House decided today that Representative Francis Myers of Pennsylvania has been elected to the senate.

He was identified as Senator Myers on the president's engagement list. Myers, a Democrat, ran against incumbent Senator James Davis, Republican. Final outcome of the race will not be known until Pennsylvania completes counting its soldier ballots.

Myers, along with Senator Guffey (D-Pa.), Democratic State Chairman David Lawrence and Philadelphia's Democratic Chairman James A. Clark led off the president's engagements today.

14-Year-Old War Vet Joins Legion Post

McKeesport, Nov. 21.—(P)—Forty-four-year-old Jimmy Clark, yanked out of an embarkation port as he was about to go overseas with a patrol troop contingent, is now a full-fledged member of the American Legion.

Jimmy spent 11 months in the army and had made six parachute training jumps when officers learned his true age and sent him home. Last night he was initiated as a member of McKeesport Post 361—the organization that helped him find a niche when he returned to civilian life.

It was bad enough being sent home from the army, but Jimmy discovered soon after he got back that he probably would have to return to the fifth grade schoolroom he left to join the army. State law requires school attendance for all children under 16.

Appeal Made By Somervell For Workers

By HAROLD WARD
Associated Press Labor Writer
Chicago, Nov. 21.—(P)—The CIO convention today was urged by Lt. Gen. Brehon Somervell, army supply chief, to help recruit another 100,000 workers for war plants to turn out the fighting tools needed in Europe and the Pacific.

"We must have these workers at once," said the general in an address prepared for the delegates who yesterday cheered their president, Philip Murray, after he urged a revision of the little steel formula limiting wages and said "we have no quarrel with business."

Somervell told the convention that production in some items is 40 per cent behind.

Somervell said the 40 per cent loss in production on some schedules "can mean the difference between victory and a long drawn stalemate."

New Pearl Harbor Inquiry Proposed

Washington, Nov. 21.—(P)—A new presidential inquiry into the Pearl Harbor tragedy was proposed today by Senator Chandler (D-Ky.) in lieu of a projected investigation by senators.

Saying that an official commission appointed by President Roosevelt could do "a more complete and better job," Chandler advocated such a course as Senator Hatch (D-NM.) voiced tentative approval of separate congressional action.

Hatch, an administration supporter, said he would favor a proposal by Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) to launch a senate inquiry if it can be conducted "without interfering with the present magnificent army and navy co-operation."

Kimmel and Short, commanding at Pearl Harbor when the Japanese struck, have waived the "two year statute of limitations as a bar to possible courts martial on dereliction of duty charges."

MANPOWER SHORTAGE
Harrisburg, Nov. 21.—(P)—The War Manpower Commission placed 63,893 prisoners, 21,047 of them women, in jobs in Pennsylvania during October, state Director Floran J. Bland announced today, saying the manpower shortage in the state is now at its peak.

That is the reaction of officers who led troops against Metz defenses which were tough on the outside—where they were manned by SS or Wehrmacht units—but were hopelessly feeble inside the city save for one pocket in the north held by a handful of regulars.

Called up only Nov. 5 as a part-time homeguard, the soldiers of this motley crew of males from 16 to 60 had had only a few hours training by the time they faced the Fifth and 95th Infantry Division veterans. They were badly armed, too and wholly incapable of coping with the Americans.

One typical unit organized in the Metz area was a company encountered by the Fifth Division. A prisoner said it had had only 10 hours training over a period of two weeks and included some men who did not know how even to load and fire their obsolete French carbines. When it was called up, only 26 of its complement reported for duty.

Col. Konstantin Mayer, administrative head of Metz troops, who was captured yesterday by the Fifth, blamed the Volksturm's dismissal showing on lack of time for training and organization. American officers were inclined to agree in part saying that although material may be bad, if men can be trained to fire guns they can at least make nuisance of themselves.

LEYTE BATTLE IS SLOWED UP BY TYPHOON

MacArthur Communique Notes 32nd Division Is Making Progress Near Limon

ACTIVITY IN THE AIR

By MURLIN SPENCER

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Nov. 21.—(P)—The battle of Leyte ground nearly to a typhoon-soaked stop today while Manila recovered from its fourth major American air raid of the month.

On Leyte, the typhoon took precedence over efforts of both sides on the swaying Limon battle line. General MacArthur's communique noted that the 32nd Division was making some progress near Limon, reported that the enemy was continuing desperate efforts to break a road-block south of the town—and added, significantly, "all traffic, air, ground and sea, is fraught with great difficulties and hazards; and battle conditions are becoming static."

Only in the air was there spectacular activity. There, 35 enemy fighters and dive bombers raided American positions, losing seven aircraft to air patrols and ground fire. American aircraft countered with attacks on Japanese communications lines, supply areas and waterfront targets near Ormoc.

Vice Adm. John S. McCain's carrier planes hit Manila again Saturday, damaged airfields, set blazing flaring on three merchant ships and destroyed 118 Japanese planes. Most of these were on the ground. Only 10 enemy planes were shot down in the Manila area and another eight near the fleet carriers.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced the raids at Pearl Harbor last night. The announcement made no mention of damage to American planes or ships (although radio Tokyo said nine American aircraft were downed) nor of additional Japanese shipping in the Manila area. This was surprising in view of the recent Japanese attempts to reinforce Leyte by sea.

The Saturday bag ballooned to 731 the total of enemy aircraft destroyed by naval forces in the Philippines this month. The unofficial grand total for the month now is 921, including those destroyed by army and naval fliers under MacArthur's command.

At Limon, the Japanese continued their last-ditch efforts to hold a confused and disconnected line on the crests of ridges overlooking the Ormoc corridor.

Three House Seats May Be Contested

Harrisburg, Nov. 21.—(P)—Whether members of the armed forces are barred from serving in the general assembly "is entirely up to the legislature," Speaker Ira T. Fiss declared today.

Three Republicans and one Democrat in military service were elected to the house earlier this month. Fiss said the justice department advised him verbally a recent Pennsylvania supreme court decision "is clear cut" in preventing them from taking office.

The constitution provides that the house "shall judge of the election and qualifications of its members" and Fiss said in an interview the body must finally decide the issue when it organizes next January.

Declaring "civil government must be maintained," the supreme court decided induction of a township commissioner in Allegheny county created a vacancy in that office and directed that it be filled.

Local Bands Make Plans For An Active Winter Schedule

Following a summer during which the local bands played a number of engagements, including several concerts in Warren, several bands are planning to continue their work in the winter season, according to C. W. Wolstencroft, manager of the Struthers Wells Band.

The series of "open rehearsals" which aroused much comment when it was inaugurated last winter, will be resumed, with the first of the series again sponsored by the V. F. W. band.

The first "open rehearsal" is scheduled for Monday evening, December fourth, in the V. F. W. band room on the third floor of the V. F. W. building on Pennsylvania avenue just east of Hickory street. All interested musicians, regardless of whether they have been playing recently or not, regardless of band or orchestra affiliations, and regardless of whether they are connected with the V. F. W. or not, are cordially invited to come and "sit in" on a band rehearsal without any obligation whatsoever involved. Even the lack of an instrument may not prevent participation. The band has a number of instruments, some of which are not being currently used, and a phone call to Ledy Williams, 654-J, is all that is needed to see if an instrument will be available for you that night.

After the "open rehearsal" there will be coffee and doughnuts, or something similar to munch on, to give the participants an opportunity to get together and talk things over. Nothing stronger than coffee is permitted in the band room, of course.

Additional "open rehearsals" are scheduled after the first of the year, to be sponsored by the Struthers Wells and the National Forge Band. Full details about these will be given at a later date.

Several concert appearances are being scheduled, it being understood that the Struthers Wells Band is playing a concert at the North Warren State Hospital in December, and the V. F. W. Band also playing there shortly after the first of the year.

In the absence of any municipal auditorium, it does not appear probable that any public concerts, similar to those given last summer, can be presented during the winter. It might be noted that during the summer, it was decided to discontinue the combination of the V. F. W. Band and the National Forge Band, and for both bands to proceed with individual rehearsals and appearances. This means openings for drummers, etc., for both bands.

At the same time, the Struthers Wells Band decided that since the shop as well as the office of the Struthers Wells Corporation had assumed a decidedly "co-ed" appearance in recent years, and since a number of feminine employees had indicated an interest in playing in the band, it was time for the band to go "co-ed" thereby becoming the first band other than the school bands hereabouts to include a feminine contingent.

For more news of what is going on in the bands, the best solution is to come out to one or more of the "open rehearsals", and, after sitting in on a few numbers to get the feel of it, joining up in the free for all discussions which will go along with the coffee.

Friends in Warren learned last evening of the death of Lieutenant Lawrence S. Scofield, Jr., a pilot in the Army Air Forces, as reported in yesterday's New York Herald-Tribune. Lieut. Scofield was killed in a plane accident during a routine flight near MacDill Field, Tampa, Fla., where he was stationed. He was twenty-two years old, a graduate of Taft School, Watertown, Conn., and was a student at Lehigh University when he enlisted in 1943.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Jeanette Bart Scofield, a brother, William A. Scofield, a student at the Navy Training School at Northwestern University, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence S. Scofield, of 137 Beach avenue, Larchmont, New York. No information is received today as to the funeral arrangements.

Lieut. Scofield's parents were both well known residents of Warren before moving to New York City and later to Larchmont about twenty-five years ago, and often visited friends here, occasionally bringing their children. His father is a son of the late Archibald T. Scofield and Mrs. Scofield, who also lives in Larchmont, and his mother is a daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. William H. Jones, both deceased, who resided here during the years when Mr. Jones was rector of Trinity Memorial church.

Warren subscribers of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette received their papers several hours late this morning due to the fact that the bundle for this city was inadvertently carried through to Jamestown and were not returned until after eleven o'clock.

QUIET IN POLICE CIRCLES

Excepting for the routine schedule of trying doors, escorting mail to the station and money to deposit boxes the night force of the police department had a somewhat quiet time. A report that a man had fallen off or through the sidewalk in Market street extension was investigated but nothing developed.

CIGARETTE RATIONING

The Erie district OPA office has officially announced that dealers handling the limited supply of cigarettes now available are completely within their rights in determining to which customers they will sell the smokes. The merchant may limit sales to regular customers and, if he chooses may issue ration cards to such customers permitting them to buy cigarettes. It is an OPA violation, however, to require any customer to buy other articles in order to secure cigarettes.

KNOWN HERE

Col. William H. Patterson, of Erie, a former well known officer of the National Guard, who has been missing since early October, is said to be among a list of American prisoners exchanged last week during a brief six-hour armistice at one point on the western front. American-held Nazis in equal number were returned for the Americans. Patterson is the son of Mrs. Helen Bliss Patterson, former superintendent of the Erie County Detention Home.

GOING TO CORRY

The Salvation Army Band is traveling to Corry, tonight to take part in a shrub planting. The business men of Corry are doing this for the Salvation Army to beautify the front of the building. There will be a ceremony with the planting of the shrubs. After the ceremony on the outside of the Army building there will be a meeting in the Army hall. The Warren Salvation Army Band will have a prominent part to play in both of these meetings under the direction of Adjutant A. L. Brandenburg, corps officer.

Interesting Bond Display At Warren Bank and Trust

One of the most interesting War Bond displays yet devised went on exhibit November 20 in the Second street window of Warren Bank and Trust Co.

The unusual display is sponsored by Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corporation, one of the world's largest manufacturers of airplanes, and illustrates eight types of war planes, being built by this concern at its several factories throughout the United States. The war craft range from relatively small ("Flying Jeeps") to leviathans of the air.

A feature of the display is an authentic model of the B-24 Liberator, four-motored bomber which has scored such dramatic successes in every theatre of the war. Along with the display is an airage map of the air routes of the peace-time world to come, but the whole emphasis is on the function of the various war planes which War Bonds will help to buy.

Volunteers Sought for Visit Of Blood Bank Next Month

The Mobile Unit of the American Red Cross Blood Bank could not keep its November engagement in Warren yesterday and today due to a redistribution of territory in this area. They will, however, be in Warren on the third Monday and Tuesday of next month; December 13th and 14th.

Persons who have not yet volunteered for blood donations and wish to donate may do so by registering with the Red Cross before December 1st. New donors are welcome as usual and registration blanks may be had at any of Warren's drug stores or at Red Cross Headquarters, 404 Market St. The December visit of the Blood Bank will also make a return of old hours for making donations at the City Building. These hours will be: 1 to 4 o'clock and 5 to 7 in the evening. Appointments will be scheduled from 12:50 to 3:35 and from 4:50 to 6:55.

Donors who last gave in August will be among the first called for donations in December. Next called will be those who last gave in September and if there are not enough new volunteers for the December visit it will be necessary to call some few persons who last gave in October. All new donors will be called immediately.

If there are any persons who feel they may have been missed at the time of the September or October visit of the Blood Bank they can be put back on the active donor list by calling Miss Eba at Red Cross Headquarters, phone 2926 or Mrs. Harold Banghart at 1619.

PLEASANT SURPRISE FOR ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pace were pleasantly surprised Sunday afternoon when a large group of relatives and friends gathered at their home, 1415 Pennsylvania avenue west, in honor of their 20th wedding anniversary.

The time was spent in renewing old acquaintances and, in late afternoon, a buffet lunch was served. As the guests departed with good wishes for many more happy anniversaries they presented the couple with a beautiful set of china.

FAMILY DINNER FOR W. D. TODD

W. D. Todd, who is 90 years old today, will be honor guest this evening for a family turkey dinner given by his daughter, Mrs. Grace Siggins, Second avenue.

SHEFFIELD NEWS

Sheffield, Nov. 19—Mrs. H. F. Priest, entertained the Garden Club Wednesday afternoon. After a short business session, Mrs. W. O. Christenson gave a paper on Chrysanthemums, which was very interesting. The contest was won by Mrs. Lulu Carlson. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Clara Conquer, and this occasion will be the Christmas party.

WOMAN'S CLUB

The Progressive Club will have dinner served to them at the M. E. church Monday evening, Nov. 20, this being their tenth anniversary.

VACATION

The Sheffield Township schools will be closed Thursday and Friday this week.

A DAUGHTER

It's a daughter, Halie Dee for Dr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor, arriving at the Kane Community Hospital, November 15. There are two boys in the family, Thomas and Daniel.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Louise Blodgett has arrived home from the Community hospital, but will not return to her duties as the Township School Nurse until January 3, 1945.

Misses May and Emily Magnusson were visitors in Buffalo, over the weekend.

Mrs. Ernest F. Kish is spending some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Priest, as Captain Kish has been sent overseas.

Just SCRAPS

It wasn't a nice day. It wasn't a nice day at all. The rains squirted from moment to moment. The sky was overcast. There was nothing encouraging about the day from the pallid sunrise to the weary sunset.

Nevertheless, it was a great day for cans, was last Wednesday, November 15. The Salvage Committee asked for one carload from the county, and received almost two. In other words, nearly 500,000 cans took their leave of Warren County kitchens and marched off to wars.

Every school in the county, with the exception of three, participated in the collection and sent their cans in by the State Highway trucks. Volunteer men and trucks in the various communities squashed right ahead through the slime, getting soaked to the skin out never losing sight of the main objective of the day, which was cans. The work was done by borough men and trucks through the courtesy of E. T. Beck, by the Warren Disposal Company, Valentine Company, State Hospital and the Youngsville borough trucks. Volunteer help was also kindly furnished by the Pennsylvania Electric Company, the Warren Water Company, the county commissioners, and the Salvation Army.

Warren County is fortunate in having a small but faithful group of ready volunteers, such as the above. They give their time, their gasoline and their energy to Salvage work whenever there is a need. Without their help such a record as the recent tin-can collection would have been impossible.

When Warren County can send out 28 gross tons of cans in one shipment, it is really something to shout about. In spite of this fact, according to W. T. Corbett, a few people are becoming careless and not saving their cans. If this is true, it is certainly a dismal commentary on the staying power of our patriotic impulses. Don't forget, kind friends, that two tin cans will furnish enough tin to make one syrette, and one syrette may not only relieve a desperately wounded soldier from the agony of pain, but it may furnish the margin that will save his life. You wouldn't knowingly throw away a life, would you? You may be doing it when you throw away a can. Think it over again.

In Sheffield the race for cans approached a battle royal between Lincoln School under Mrs. Evelyn Gailor and Washington School under Superintendent Wayne Chamberlain. In fact, it was a horse race. Each school had gathered about 10,000 cans, and at 11:30 there was less than 300 cans difference between them. Neither wanted to be beaten by the other. So at the noon hour each school made a concerted drive to boost its total before the truck called at 1:30 p. m. During the noon hour alone these two schools garnered between 4,000 and 5,000 cans. The final result was:

Washington School 12,200 cans
Lincoln School 11,515 cans

This was a difference of only 685 cans and shows what marvelous results can be secured by friendly competition. Your Scrapper would like to remind Mrs. Gailor and Mr. Chamberlain that the next can shipment will be about January 17. How about loading a car at Sheffield?

We told you recently about the competition for paper collection going on between the Hunters (Lillian and Archie), who are not only man and wife, but principals, respectively, of Irvinedale School and Lincoln School of Mead Township. Each one goes out to beat the other. Look for the paper report about Wednesday from these two schools.

Yes, the Salvage boxes have been removed from the streets, but this does not mean the war is over and that there is no further need for salvage. It merely means that this form of salvage collection has outgrown its usefulness. Salvage material is more needed than ever. Most vitally needed item is waste paper, followed in order by tin cans, waste fats, and rags.

Now about paper, and the schools. Can Warren County schools collect an average of twenty pounds of waste paper during the month of November? If it can, Warren County will receive one of the most significant distinctions that has come to it so far during the war—a gigantic "S" pennant from the War Production Board. The "S" stands for excellence in Salvage collection and is the highest honor the Government can bestow on any county for Salvage work. It compares with the Navy "E" given to war industries. If won, it will be passed from school to school in the county beginning with the school having the largest per capita average, then to the second, and so on down the line until each school has possession of it for a specified period.

LET'S GO, SCHOOLS! TWENTY POUNDS PER PUPIL IS OUR GOAL FOR NOVEMBER!

Sons of Italy Anniversary Is Observed

About 225 members and their ladies attended the party held Sunday afternoon at four o'clock in observance of the 22d anniversary of the formation of Loggia Gorizia Lodge No. 1176, Sons of Italy, which was held in the commodious club rooms in Pennsylvania avenue west. A feature of the event was the serving of a delicious dinner at five o'clock.

The guests were welcomed by Domenico D'Andrea, president of the lodge after which all joined in singing the National Anthem. There was group singing and orchestra music by Ford Winners for the entertainment of the crowd during the serving which was in the hands of a capable committee.

Frank Williams was master of ceremonies for the program that followed, calling upon the following who responded with short speeches: President D'Andrea, Domenico Rizzo, Genaro Pileggi, Pete Mollan and Joe Citterelli, of Warren; and Joe Cosentino, president of the Kame lodge.

The birthday cake which featured the banquet table was cut by Domenico D'Andrea a feature which proved one of the highlights of the afternoon.

At 8:30 o'clock the guests were entertained with a delightful floor show presenting members of the Williams School of Dancing.

The committee in charge of the event was Domenico D'Andrea, Vittorio Rizzardi, J. A. Regina, Joe Muscare, Salvatore Pascuzzi, Angelo Lucia and F. G. Williams. Vocal numbers throughout the evening were presented by Mary Muscare.

UNUSUAL AD

The Frederickson Master Market has an unusually attractive advertisement in this issue, since it is set up entirely in Swedish language.

BARBER SHOP HOURS

Because of the Thanksgiving holiday barber shops of the borough will remain open all day Wednesday until six o'clock and be closed Thursday.

TO PACK BASKETS

Effective Mission Circle members will gather in St. Paul's Lutheran church at seven o'clock this evening to pack Thanksgiving baskets. They ask that any church member having donations will please bring them to the church.

NEW STORE HOURS

Effective yesterday, the local store operated by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board goes on at 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. schedule daily except holidays and Sundays. Sheffield and Youngsville stores operated by the board remain on the present schedule.

SPECIAL SERVICE

Pastor Herbert A. Rinard, of First Lutheran church invites all members and friends of the congregation to a special Thanksgiving service at 10 a. m. Thursday. His sermon topic will be in keeping with the day and the choir will sing the anthem "Prayer of Thanksgiving" by Krenmer.

EXAMS AT BARRACKS

When the State Police barracks is moved to the former MacDonald home on Market street the first of the month, the examination detail will carry on its program at that point, also. Tests for drivers are given each Wednesday, also on the second and fourth Fridays of each month.

ORDER FERTILIZER NOW

Farmers are urged by extension agronomists of the Pennsylvania State College to order as much of their fertilizer supplies now as they can store safely. Such action will permit fertilizer manufacturers to keep their plants running and refill their bins for spring orders.

SIGNS OF SPRING

Farmers along the lake shore in Chautauque county have reported that robins are remaining in that section and that violets have been found blooming by men cutting firewood, and fast unusual of all that live grasshoppers were seen during the present week, and are wondering if all this may indicate an open winter.

RETURNING SOON

Rev. J. H. Cruickshank, of North Warren writes from the south that he is returning home soon, expecting to arrive some time next week. He has been away for some months engaging in various camp pastoral duties at army stations in the south. He writes that he has recently met several boys from Warren and vicinity, including Wayne Campbell, Warren; Bob Stevenson, North Warren; and Capt. Harmon of Tionesta and North Warren.

FOREST CO. MAN HURT

John D. Weant, aged about 65 and living on Route 1, Tionesta, was seriously injured Friday when his right arm was caught in a lime spreader on which he was working on the farm of his brother-in-law. The injured man was taken to the Tionesta hospital, where it was found his right shoulder was dislocated and he had lost considerable blood from lacerations in the arm and on the head. The man's condition was reported as fair at the hospital last night.

Thanksgiving Overseas

This is strange harvest to be thankful for,
This vast, momentous growth of dragon's teeth
That fruits in wooden cross and sable wreath,
This creeping flaming weed of vengeful war;
Yet I am thankful—my native land's new soil;
This feudal plant of class and caste is alien there.
Fear feeds no groveling root, no withering tendrils
Of despair,
Nor fruits the apple of exploited toil.
Such is the Old World scourge my forebears fed
And I, returning, keep our New World feast
In this vast reaping of root, stem and leaf,
Lest from this pervert soil the evil spread.
And I, New World, holding our clean harvest dear,
Find it imperative to yet reap here.

Stray Leaves From Notebook Of Reporter About Town

Raked Up By the Office Gang

"George's Annual Happy Birthday Party" has come and gone but it is not too late to mention the fact that the usual large crowd gathered for the event at the usual place and hour. The semi-exclusive list of guests made the usual generous donation for "George" which, as usual, will be applied to a most charitable cause.

The World War II veterans vocational rehabilitation program was explained to 19 school men from western Pennsylvania at a conference in Oil City last week.

The meeting was called by the Department of Public Instruction of the Veterans Rehabilitation Association. Its purpose was to acquaint the school heads with the educational benefits offered discharged veterans by the recently enacted GI bill. It was explained that returning service men may be given certain credits toward a complete high school or college education, depending on what type of training they received while in service. It will be the duties of school men to evaluate the training. More than 100 service men have already been discharged in the Titusville area, and all of them are invited to come to our school and acquaint themselves with the possible educational provisions under the vocational program. It is possible that a boy who entered service while a sophomore in high school may have received enough training to allow us to give him credits equivalent to a complete high school education. He may then enter a technical school or college and receive as high as four more years of education. Eligible veterans are those who have been in active military or naval service any time after Sept. 16, 1940, and during the present war, and have received an honorable discharge.

High school boys and girls who have been working in business or industrial jobs during the past summer were urged today by Geo. W. Ervin, manager of the Erie office of the Social Security Board, to take care of the social security account number cards. "Students will need their cards again when they take other jobs during holidays, during next vacation, and throughout life," Mr. Ervin said. "The card is the key to an insurance policy with Uncle Sam, and one number should be used by every worker throughout life. Wage credits, on which future benefits will be based, are posted to each worker's individual ledger sheet under both his name and number since many people may have the same name but no two can have the same social security number. More than one number may cause some loss of the wage credits. And it's patriotic to take care of the card. Thirteen bullets could be bought for the cost of issuing a duplicate."

A report issued last week by Highways Superintendent Chilson says that during the first year of Chautauque county's operation of the Benus Point-Stov ferry 24,209 cars were carried across the lake. 798 trucks were transported and fares were collected from 6,502 "voyagers." Wonder how many of these were from Warren county?

Borough and county officers who attended the FBI Law Enforcement Conference held in Bradford last week found the sessions very much worth while and the talks given should prove most helpful in local investigations. "The Rights of an Officer for Arrest Under the Pennsylvania Laws" was one of the main subjects on the program. Representatives of the FBI demonstrated "judo" or jujitsu and disarming tactics. Supplemental to the program were moving pic-

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. I request or empty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there's something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

warning that transportation would be denied southern sojourners when they get ready to return north in the spring.

On the traffic light at the corner of Hickory street and Pennsylvania avenue there is a direction sign pointing across the bridge to the hospital. At the south end of the bridge there is nothing to indicate which way the stranger should turn to reach the institution. It would be a great help to visitors in town if a sign were erected at that point to aid them in reaching the hospital without making inquiries.

The Warren County Commissioners, in common with others throughout the state tomorrow, will commence the count of soldier ballots cast in the November presidential election. It is expected the tally will be completed before evening and it is not anticipated the

SHORT, SHORT STORY

Judge Allison D. Wade is from Warren County, but he's been sitting in Erie County courts—helping out on the court calendars—for several sessions.

Judge Wade is comparatively young as judges run in Pennsylvania, but he is a keen-minded jurist. Friday while presiding in a case involving domestic relations he displayed a Solomon-like piece of court wisdom.

Judge Wade decreed that no wife should be forced to move in with her mother-in-law—especially not for 17 years.

The case involved a McKean husband charged with non-support. His wife had left him and their children after living with his mother for 17 years.

"It should be made clear that it is not ground for separation, non-support or divorce to possess a mother-in-law," said the judge, adding "Nor does being a mother-in-law constitute a ground for separation or divorce."

But the court was called upon to decide whether or not leaving a husband who did not provide any other home than his mother's is justifiable cause. The court thought it was. The judge said that it is the very nature of the situation that difficulties between a mother and her daughter-in-law will arise, and the husband is presumed to know such to be the case.

The husband must pay his wife $50 per month from now on.

TREASURY SERVICE RIBBONS

Warren county war loan workers soon will be wearing their Treasury Service Ribbons which are being mailed today to the hundreds of workers in the country's boroughs and townships.

The service ribbons, which resemble those worn by the armed forces, have the initials of the War Finance Committee inscribed on the tri-color.

The citations, signed by Ted R. Smith, director of the War Finance Division of the Treasury Department, and Donald C. Smith, chairman of the Warren County Sixth War Loan, read as follows:

"IN RECOGNITION of your valiant service to the United States Treasury and to Warren County's own war effort in this and past War Loan campaigns . . . and as a visible means of identifying you as a worker in the Sixth War Loan, we are happy to award to you this Treasury Service Ribbon, which you are henceforth entitled to wear at all times."

These service ribbons will be worn with pride by the many Warren county men and women who devote their time and energy to this essential home front duty.

HOPELESS SITUATION

Sweet are the uses of adversity, thinks the Anti-Cigarette Alliance, which has hailed the current smokes shortage as "a golden opportunity" for millions of smokers to quit the nasty habit.

The Alliance not only offers opportunity, but a rather complicated cure which involves a change of diet, doses of Rochelle salts and cream of tartar, Turkish baths, and the chewing of gentian root or camomile blossoms whenever the urge to smoke becomes too overpowering.

Somehow we view the Alliance's golden opportunity with scant hope. Even if all smokers took advantage of it, in a few months the air would be full of the howls of millions who had to wait in line two hours for a Turkish bath. And the black market in gentian and camomile would be flourishing.

TRAFFIC JAM A-BREWING

We don't know what's become of the man with the flag who used to start 'em off in the 500-mile race at Indianapolis. And we don't know how the New York subway guards like their work during rush hours. But we can pass along to them a tip on some good jobs opening up after the war that could use their special talents.

New York's Mayor La Guardia has announced that a projected new airport in his city will eventually handle 300 flights an hour—or five a minute. Maybe His Honor could use a few good traffic cops too.

If you want to help put something over on the Japs and Germans, make it the Sixth War Loan. Buy more bonds.

There were so many conflicting reports about Hitler over the weekend that about all we can do is hope for the worst.

The "lame duck" congress is attended by many whose goose already has been cooked.

Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—With the President's fourth term now in the bag, the big question here is whether there will be any shake-up in the cabinet. The best guess is not much, if any.

All the cabinet members are expected to turn in their resignations. This is traditional. Interior Secretary Harold L. Ickes is always one of the first to "resign," and his undated resignation has reportedly been on the President's desk for weeks. However, this year Ickes wasn't first, according to White House rumors. Labor Secretary Frances Perkins has had her undated resignation in the President's basket for months.

The pre-election resignation of John R. Steelman as director of the Labor department's conciliation service has given rise to the rumor that what has been cleared for his appointment as successor to Mrs. Perkins.

Steelman isn't well known outside government and industrial circles, but his effectiveness in those circles is almost without blemish. Although he has been handling labor disputes at the rate of about 2,500 a year, he never has really been under the guns of either labor or industry.

However, Steelman's resignation has also been attributed to the fact that he has been offered three or four times his present salary of $9,000 a year to go into private industry as a labor relations consultant. If that is true, there's little likelihood that he's angling for Madame Perkins' job or could even be persuaded to take it.

THE No. 2 change in the cabinet, as far as Washington talk is concerned, would be the Secretary of Agriculture. Secretary Claude R. Wickard has, since shortly after his appointment, been under critical fire. Much of the authority he normally would have been assigned to the War Food Administration and other agencies over which he has no control.

Bound up in this speculation, too, is what President Roosevelt is going to do with Vice President Wallace. Wallace's loyalty in the face of the Chicago convention turn-down certainly earmarks him for some big job. Will it be return to the cabinet as Secretary of Agriculture? Speculators here don't think so. Wickard's loyalty in the face of dwindling authority has been no less.

Best guess here now is that Wallace will be given some sort of roving ambassadorial assignment, probably in Latin America.

Whatever his job will be, it's apparent that Wallace isn't worried about it. Although he refuses to give any hint of what's ahead, it's clear that he knows and is satisfied that could hardly be an unsettling of his close friend Wickard.

IN other words, it is considered unlikely here that the President will make any changes in his cabinet now. However, it is almost certain that before his fourth term is out, the President will have to make some changes because of health or retirements.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull is not well. Secretary of War Stimson is aging. It's unlikely that either can stand the strain of four more years in office. But it's no secret that the President would accept the resignation of either only with much reluctance.

JASON never had a clear idea of what he said to the king or what the king said to him. The girl in the red dress was standing just behind the throne. She raised her fan and smiled through the cobweb of lace. Then she said something to the woman by her side, and they both smiled.

Caleb and the king were talking. Caleb was telling the monarch about the condition of the harbor from the viewpoint of a seaman who has just brought a ship into it. Caleb was not a man to be impressed by any king. He spoke frankly and to the point. He said that the harbor was too small, and that it was filled with floating debris which was a menace to navigation, and that the channel entrance was much too narrow.

The king was pleased. He told Caleb that it was not often that anyone but Doctor Webb talked frankly with him. "I have a plan in mind for the improvement of the harbor," went on the king. "Your information is good."

Jason had lost all interest in the king and court and Caleb's conversation. He studied the girl, noting the soft wave of her black hair, the red of her lips, the sweet curve of her throat. She seemed aware of his ardent gaze, but not resentful.

When Jason and Caleb passed out into the hall after the audience, Caleb caught his brother by the arm and pulled him to one side. "There's one kanaka who seems to have some sense," he declared stoutly. "Maybe he'll improve his harbor, now that I've told him the truth."

Jason turned hurriedly to face the doorway. He had heard a rustle of silk. Then he saw the girl. Her head was high; her tiny red shoes twinkled in and out under her dress.

BOTH Caleb and Jason stared. The girl went past without so much as turning her head. Then she dropped her fan, a dainty affair of ivory and black lace. Jason picked it up.

Jason would have sworn she did it deliberately. The female attendant sprang forward. So did Jason. He reached the fan first, seized it and, with a courtly bow, offered it to the girl.

Before she could accept it, the dark woman sprang between them. She snatched the fan from Jason's hand, wiped it carefully with the skirt of her dress, then gave it to the girl. She turned to Jason and in broken English said coldly, "Princess Liloa, she tabu."

"Kilani is overzealous," said the Princess softly. "You must not be offended. A touch tabu was placed upon me by the king when I was a child."

"I will not make the same mistake again," Jason said coldly.

The princess flashed a probing look at the tall young captain, then turned and went down the hall, her feet pattering swiftly over the flagstone.

The princess' attendant, Kilani, paused and surveyed Jason with distaste. She frowned. "To break the king's tabu, it mean death," she swept off after her mistress.

BACK AT THE HARBOR, Jason and Caleb found that the Varsity had been warped in alongside the crude pier and that the work of unloading cargo had already begun. Doctor Webb had sent a gang of men, the hatches of the ship were open and pipe was coming out of the hold in a steady clanking stream.

In the cabin, Caleb got out the cargo manifest and went to work. Jason tossed his tail hat into a corner and flopped down on a settee. "As pretty a lass as a man might meet if he cruised the Seven Seas," he drawled dreamily.

"She's a member of the royal family," grunted Caleb.

Jason peeled off his tailcoat and hung it on a peg. "Notice the way she flirted with me through her fan?"

Caleb pushed aside his papers and swung around to face his brother. "A pretty face comes along and trouble begins. Remember that Spanish don's daughter at Valdez? And the little French girl at Marseilles? It took half the crew to rescue you from that fight in the cafe."

"But this is different," Jason countered. "Things aren't so formal here in the islands. People are merry and childlike. They do not think love a sin."

Caleb grunted and shook his head. "This girl's tabu. The Hawaiians are serious about their tabus."

"Nonsense," Jason laughed. "This is 1881, not the Middle Ages." His eyes had a far-away look in them as he recalled the princess' appearance. "Her skin isn't brown; it's a rich golden color."

He sprang from the settee. "Where's Maku?" he demanded. "Where's that kanaka cabin boy?" Maku was summoned and came bounding into the cabin.

"Know the Princess Liloa?" Jason asked.

"Sure," said Maku, glancing curiously from one brother to the other. "She very pretty girl. Daughter of Queen Liloa. She all time swim at the beach. Swim good as a man. Also is fine surfer."

"What would happen," Jason asked, "if anyone broke the tabu?"

"He make!" cried Maku, rolling his eyes. "Right away he die. This tabu, it made by the king."

"You see," said Jason triumphantly. "It is only a superstition. These people believe that if they touch the girl they'll drop dead. Where did you say the princess swam?"

"Every day she go to Waikiki," Maku answered sullenly. "But you keep away. I not want to see you die."

Jason lay back and smiled. "Shouldn't be surprised if I went to the beach—very soon."

"To see that girl," Caleb accused.

"Perhaps," Jason shrugged. "I might meet her by accident. Might even get a chance to talk to her. There's no harm in maintaining friendly relations with the royal family. We may need a friend in court before we secure our return cargo and set sail for home."

"Keep your hands off her," warned Caleb. "Remember we are in a strange port."

HOW WILL HITLER END?

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

How will Adolf Hitler end? His question is as difficult to answer as is that other $64 question: When will the war end? do not claim to have the answer. If I presume to conjecture the Fuehrer's collapse, I can do it on the basis of facts observations now almost three years old. Many changes have taken place in Germany since I left. My analysis may well be dated.

Anyway, here goes: Some day in, say, 1945, some American with many years' experience in Germany under a microscope, with a keen ear for dialects and pronunciations and with Lois P. Lochner, chief of the Associated Press Berlin bureau from 1928 to 1941, saw close hand Hitler's rise to power and march to war. A Pulitzer Prize winner in 1939, he is widely regarded as one of the foremost authorities on Hitler and the Nazi regime. Lochner is now returning to Germany to report on the final stages of the war.

HITLER'S POSTWAR PLAN?—Escaping Allied vengeance, Adolf Hitler might seek refuge in some neutral country. This artist's conception shows how the postwar Hitler might look—his mustache gone, hair grey, wrinkles removed from his face.

The man's skin seems taut and without wrinkles—and Hitler was rapidly acquiring deep bags under his eyes and wrinkles on his brow. And where is the famous moustache?

And yet—something in the German's gait, some mannerisms in his speech, something in his eyes keep reminding the American of Hitler. What is it?

First, there is that unusual walk. Nobody in Germany except der Fuehrer strode that way, throwing his leg forward, then giving an ext-a-jerk to lengthen the distance.

Second, the speech. Not that his raucous voice had no imitators. Gauleiter Adolf Wagner of Munich could duplicate that voice so well that Hitler often let him read his proclamations. But neither Wagner nor anybody else knew just how to imitate Hitler's peculiar variation and mingling of Bavarian, Hanoverian and High German dialects. Only a person with a keen ear could discern the real voice from that of many imitators. This German spoke as Hitler did.

Third, the eyes. I have seen no one in whom the whites of the eyes had as deep a bluish tinge as they did in those of Adolf Hitler.

The alert American, putting two and two together, has solved one of the greatest mysteries of our time—the disappearance, of the self-styled "greatest military leader of all times."

Adolf Hitler has had his face lifted, his whiskers removed, his nose changed by facial surgery, his hair returned to its natural white for a man of his age, and parted the normal way on the left

Various other possibilities loom: The United Nations may by good luck or by some carefully planned maneuver seize Hitler before he can make his getaway.

Again, a block buster may hit his armored train or blast his headquarters before he can take refuge.

Either of these eventualities is too good to prove likely.

A revolution of the masses, in which an angry mob might lynch der Fuehrer and his principal collaborators, seems unlikely in view of the frightful hold which the fully armed Gestapo has upon the civilian population.

A revolution from the top has been effectively discouraged by the purges of generals, diplomats, labor leaders, experienced administrators, and others following the attempt, real or staged, upon Hitler's life on July 20.

And yet the possibility of a violent death should not be ruled out.

Mussolini was disavowed by his own son-in-law and by such intimate disciples as Dino Grandi and Marshal Emilio de Bono. They did not have to kill their Fuehrer—there was a higher authority, the old King, Victor Emmanuel.

In Germany, there is no higher authority. If Hitler's intimates should decide his elimination is desirable, and should tell him so, he would try to beat them to it by removing the pretorian guards outside his study and commanding them to "kill the traitors."

Hence, for their own protection, they would have to eliminate him by assassination.

In a weird, unsavory, gangster regime like that created by the Nazis, things may happen of a kind that ordinarily occur only in Hollywood detective thrillers.

W.M.C. Helps To Place Vets In Good Jobs

World War II veterans placed in jobs by the United States Employment Service here last month totaled 22, David W. Levine, manager of the office at 225 Pennsylvania avenue, west, announces today.

Veterans were found jobs in the following occupational groupings: Professional and managerial 1, service jobs 1, semi-skilled jobs 15, and unskilled and other work 15.

Service men and women returning to civilian life are finding at the employment service office a complete list of job openings for which they are best fitted, according to Mr. Levine, who says: "We are most happy to be of assistance in helping our boys and girls, who have served their country, in their efforts to find suitable work."

"With the present wide range of job openings available to veterans of World War II, we are in a splendid position to serve returning members of the armed forces."

Local Judge Hears Unusual Case In Erie

Erie, Nov. 20—No wife should be forced to move in with her mother-in-law, Judge Allison D. Wade ruled in Erie county court Thursday, especially not for 17 years.

The case before him involved Elmer Marsh, R. D. 1, McKean, charged with non-support. His wife had left him and their children after living with his mother for 17 years.

"It should be made clear," said the Warren county judge, specially presiding here, "that it is not ground for separation, non-support or divorce to possess a mother-in-law."

Nor, he added cautiously, "does being a mother-in-law constitute a ground for separation or divorce." "Specifically," Judge Wade stated, "this court is called upon to rule whether or not leaving a husband, who did not provide a wife with any other house than his mother's, is a justifiable cause. This court thinks it is."

"It is not even necessary to go into detail of the difficulties this wife had in her mother-in-law's home. It is the very nature of the situation that difficulties will arise, and a husband is presumed to know such to be the case."

The court directed that the husband pay his wife $50 per month from now on.

Purchase of Gas Company Given Hearing

Philadelphia, Nov. 21—(P)—W. H. Lock, president of the Pennsylvania Gas Company, Warren, and vice president of its parent National Fuel Gas Company, says that Pennsylvania Gas could not supply enough gas to serve its consumers without the additional amount purchased from Jefferson County Gas Company. Lock testified at a Securities and Exchange Commission hearing on National Fuel's proposed purchase of Jefferson's capital stock for $500,000 from Healey Petroleum Company, Bradford, Pa.

Of the 6,204,600 M. C. F.'s (thousand cubic feet) of gas used by Pennsylvania Gas annually, Lock said, 1,030,000 M. C. F.'s are supplied by Jefferson.

The purchase will be economical, Lock said, since under its present contract with Jefferson Pennsylvania Gas is required to take all of the gas supplied by Jefferson regardless of need.

Since Jefferson's properties are adjacent to those of Pennsylvania Gas, the transaction will comply with geographic integration provisions of the holding company act.

The witness was examined by David Ginsburg of the Sec's public utilities division staff. Trial examiner Charles Lobingier presided.

HOW MANY BONDS CAN I BUY?

Here are a few figures to help you answer that question:

A B-29 Superfortress Costs $600,000 In War Bonds

The Thunderbolt P-47 Costs About $50,000

A Tankdozer Costs About $67,500

A "Weasel" Comes to $4,800

We are winning the war, but it isn't won yet. The European war is expensive, but almost everything in the Pacific costs more—and we need more of everything than it took for the invasion of Europe.

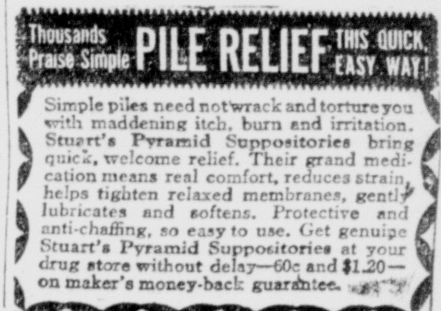

These are reasons why every patriotic American will want to buy heavily during the Sixth War Loan

Production Board, and was the first large company in the entire nation to get War Production Board permit for resumption of manufacturing civilian needs. As the Electrolux factory at Old Greenwich Conn., is at capacity for small electric motors for planes, tanks and other military uses, no part of the factory could be shifted to civilian manufacturers. The problem was met at their New York City plant which is now producing new Electrolux Cleaners in a relatively high volume but the still limited vacuum production is expected to increase when the war needs in Europe and the Pacific ceases, and materials and manpower becomes available. The company expects to be able to supply new cleaners to all who have bought Preferential Contracts within six months or less, but will continue to accept Preferential orders until immediate deliveries can be made. Meanwhile, prompt service is being provided on all cleaners now in use.

Gas

my passport to the "New Freedom" kitchen

"A passport to a private paradise of my own—that's what Gas means to me in my kitchen. We all appreciate more than ever what freedom means today—and believe me the housewife values a lot of important freedoms that only modern Gas cooking equipment gives her."

"There's FREEDOM FROM A LOT OF DIRT. With my modern Gas range I don't get steamy walls that are streaked and messy and don't have a lot of scouring to do on bottoms of pots and pans."

"There's FREEDOM FROM FUSS AND BOTHER—I'm free of a lot of worry about how the cooking's coming—can use the time for other things or just rest. And no discomfort from excess heat—my insulated oven sees to that."

"There's FREEDOM FROM COOKING FAILURES. That's because Gas is not only fully automatic—it's precisely controllable. You get just the degree of heat the recipe calls for, whether high or low. And Gas heats instantly, from the moment you turn it on."

"Modern Gas cooking equipment means FINANCIAL FREEDOM, too. Economical to operate, it will last for years, with nothing to wear out or burn out—plus the savings in food bills."

Keep in touch with your dealer or your Gas Company about the marvelous new Gas equipment that will make for better living all over the house.

Indian Music Is Party at Ludlow Deardorff Subject For Anniversary Of Philomel Club Of Daniel Bairs

Another interesting phase in the Philomel Club's study for this season will be the topic "Our Indian Music," to be presented at the Woman's Club Wednesday afternoon by Merle H. Deardorff, local banker and authority on Indian lore and the early history of this section.

From the standpoint of Indian study, Mr. Deardorff has several qualifications. He is an adopted member of the Seneca Tribe at the Complanter Reservation and has done a great deal of research into earlier customs. He has long been active in the local and state historical societies and, through these, has had additional opportunities to learn of these earliest inhabitants.

Music has always been one of Mr. Deardorff's hobbies and his interest has extended to participation and support of all worth while musical endeavors in his community.

Hostesses for the afternoon are Mrs. N. D. Peterson, chairman; Mrs. James E. Hazeltine, Mrs. Peter Horning, Mrs. Anna Wilson, Mrs. Horace Stevenson and Mrs. Harold Hampton.

YWCA Plans For Greens Ceremony And Annual Meet

Announcement that the annual ceremony of "Handing of the Greens" would be held in the Y. W. C. A. buildings on Monday, December 11, in charge of the high school girls, was made at the November meeting of the YWCA board of directors, held last evening.

The date for the annual meeting was set for the third Monday in January, the 15th. Rowena Sammel was appointed by the president, Mrs. Carl Lundahl, to serve as chairman of the nominating committee, to be assisted by two board members, Miss Blanche Francis and Mrs. H. E. Pettit, with Mrs. E. K. Rogers and Mrs. Harriett Wilkins representing the membership at large. The committee on arrangements for the annual meeting will be Miss Bertha Fraring, chairman, with Mrs. Grover Lind and Miss Doris Peterson. Mrs. Harold Smith presented excerpts from the service in observance of the 50th anniversary of the World's YWCA, which was used on Sunday afternoon in the Washington, D. C. Cathedral. Routine reports were read by committee chairmen, giving a picture of the finances of the organization, statistical reports, department activities, as well as special activities of the past month and those proposed for the future.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHOIRS ARE ACTIVE

The Carol Choir, including over 30 boys and girls from 8 to 11 years and comprising the newest choral unit of First Presbyterian church to be developed by Jackson Bayrell, made its first public appearance Sunday morning in the special Thanksgiving and consecration service of that parish.

Participating in this festival occasion were the three choirs: Senior choir, Westminster Choristers and Carol Choir, presenting special Thanksgiving anthems. Most impressive was the anthem in which all three choirs sang together. The combined choirs presented a beautiful tableau, with the Westminster Choristers in wine-colored robes, and the Carol choir in white.

The three choirs will appear together at the community Thanksgiving service for which the church will be host Wednesday evening.

Plans Progressing For Youth Party At Beaty Friday

The community young people's party at Beaty school on Friday night promises to be one of the outstanding social events of the holiday season. Planned for all young people of high school age and those out of school up to 21 years, the event is indicated as one of the most enjoyable of the series held this summer and early fall.

The decorating committee, headed by Georgia Spinney, is calling for volunteers to meet in the Beaty gym at 9 a. m. Friday morning. The final floor show rehearsal is scheduled for 10 a. m., the same day. These acts will be announced in tomorrow's Times-Mirror.

The doors will open at 8:30 p. m. on Friday, Mac MacCarthy's Orchestra to provide music for the dancing from that hour until 11:30, with the floor show at 10.

The game room has proved to be such a popular innovation that it will again be set up for this party, together with ping pong in another section of the building. A music listening room, with recorded music, will again be available. The usual refreshments bar will be handled by Teresa Fino and her committee.

In addition to the decorations committee, volunteers are needed for Dick Blair's game room and Jim Farrell's floor committees. Bob Wilder will be general chairman for the affair, planned by the committee on community recreation and sponsored by the Community PTA Council for the young people of Warren.

There is, as usual, no admission fee for the party.

Dec. 2 Teams ate First and second in Poll

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
New York, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Army and Navy—the teams that meet in Baltimore on Dec. 2 in the football game of the decade—rate No. 1 and 2 in today's Associated Press poll to determine the country's outstanding eleven.

The Cadets, who conquered Pennsylvania by a 62 to 7 score Saturday, hung onto first place the opinion of the 98 voting fans but the remainder of the ten underwent a shakeup that placed Duke, despite its 34 to 7 triumph over South Carolina, and rated Southern California.

Leading teams, determined on a basis of 10 points for each first vote, nine for second, eight for third, etc. (First place votes in parentheses):

Top Ten	Points
Army (65 1-3)	889
Navy (5)	761
State (5)	726
Dolph Field (11 1-3)	690
Bridge Naval (4 1-3)	412
Michigan	392

Montreal Win Over Bruins Will Make First Place Tie

By the Associated Press
Art Ross' staggering Boston Bruins will have the comfort of home surroundings when they take on Montreal Canadians at the Boston Garden in the only National Hockey League game tonight, but if the records mean anything it's about the only advantage they'll have.

The Bruins' only other home game of the season was a victory, 7-5, over the tall-end Chicago Blacks, the one team they have beaten to date. They have a decision over Hawks in Chicago and a draw with New York Rangers to their credit, giving them five points in eight games and an uncertain grasp on fourth place, one point ahead of the New Yorkers.

The powerful Canadians will be shooting for the two points needed to put them in a first-place tie with Toronto Maple Leafs. In their single previous encounter with the Bruins this season, the Montrealers scored a 3-2 triumph.

A Boston victory would leave the standings unchanged, with the Bruins still four points off the pace of the third-place Detroit Red Wings.

BISONS AND ST. LOUIS IN CRUCIAL GAME TONITE

By the Associated Press
The St. Louis Flyers, who haven't won since Oct. 31, can prevent Buffalo from taking the lead in the Eastern half of the American Hockey League when the teams clash tonight at St. Louis.

The Hershey Bears currently hold first slot, one point ahead of the Bisons, who can go ahead by virtue of a victory over the Flyers. St. Louis, however, has had a week's rest and will be primed to upset the league champs. The Bisons beat the Flyers, 2-0, early this month.

Warren grid activity will be fluent over the weekend. The St. Joseph Cadets will vie with the Falconer club, and the Warren seconds meet the Sheffield Varsity on the Wolverine's gridiron. The Warren High varsity will be hosts to Ridgway and on Sunday, the Warren Tigers will meet the Johnsonburg Independents at Exposition Park.

Yale College has Ridgway to thank for Bill Kline the passer who heaved the winning aerial in their rival clash with Princeton. Kline served in the war and later played for Kiski, then going to Yale.

Ben Taylor, tired of bowling in only the third frame at the Elks Alley, tried to take a nap on the runway.

Many local football fans will trek to Erie this weekend to witness the battle between Erie Central and Meadville.

Basketball Coach Heinie Kolpien has settled down to the serious business of forming this year's cage squad. Out of an original list of 350 boys, the roster has now been cut to 33. Two returning lettermen, Elmo Wolfe and Don Antico will form the backbone of the team.

J. B. Leidig, Heinie Kolpien, Barney Senger, Howard Potts and Howard Ryberg attended the meeting of the Northern Division, District Nine. Basketball league last evening at Kane.

Warren High's 1935 grid schedule has been announced with a total of ten teams to be played. There will be five home games and five away.

The Jamestown Liberties, who have twice defeated the HyVils club, may get another chance to play the Warren crew. The New York-Pennsylvania Football League provides for a playoff at the end of the season, and these two teams hold the lead in their respective districts.

STARS AND STRIPES MAG LISTS TO GRID TEAMS

New York, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The Associated Press Football Poll, which already listed the Anchorage, Alaska, Times among its voters, became definitely international today upon receipt of a ballot from Sgt. Andy Rooney, sports editor of the Stars and Stripes in London.

Rooney listed Army, Randolph Field, Navy, Ohio State, Bainbridge, Iowa Pre-Flight, Michigan, Southern California, Duke and Tennessee in that order.

Moose League. For the winners, Joe Fielding rolled a high single of 211 and a three game total of 565. For the Busy Bee, F. Wood laid in a 200 single roll and W. Olson added a three game score of 476.

Oscars and Irwins each copped tow points in their match at the Moose. For Oscars, E. Jaynes had a high single game of 214 and a three game score of 558. J. Clark's 225 high single and three game total of 554 were high for the losers.

Remember Us?

WE'RE BACK AGAIN. In the past, this has been the time of the year when Americans have started to think about the traditional feast of Thanksgiving. So, every year at this time the friendly old Fort Pitt Couple has reflected the spirit of the season with turkey and "Fixin's."

We're back again this year, but with a different message. Of course we want you to remember Thanksgiving, perhaps a little more seriously than in ordinary times. But the really important thing we have to say this time is BUY AN EXTRA BOND. Buy it today. Buy and hold all of the bonds you can afford . . . then dig deeper. New York, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Man the dykes, folks, the flood is coming . . . Lt. Comdr. Rip Miller and Maj. Andy Gustafson started yesterday trying to build up each other's teams for the coming Army-Navy game and with two weeks to go they'll have plenty of time for crying . . . A couple of samples—Gustafson: "We'll continue to use the two-team system. We'll have to. No one team could stand up against Navy." . . . Miller: "Did George Munger wear that football suit during the Army-Penn game? I wouldn't dare do that. It wouldn't be safe the way those Cadets block." . . . Murray Dickson and Howard Kist, former Cardinal hurlers, met recently in a foxhole somewhere in France . . . And those weren't basehits whistling overhead, either.

Pfc. Bob Rinehart, a former Ohio Stater on lend lease to Camp Claiborne, La., asks who said that Ohio State didn't have transfer help? . . . "How", Bob asks "About all those shavenshafters that transferred from those Ohio High schools to the Buckeye varsity?"

PHILADELPHIA, NOV. 21.—(AP)—

Connie Mack, California-bound for a three-month vacation, paused last night to predict a strong 1945 season for his Philadelphia Athletics and to scoff at reports that he intends to swap Pitcher Don Black and Catcher Frank Hayes to Cleveland for Pitcher Jim Bagby and Outfielder Jeff Heath. "But I can assure you," he said, "that Hayes isn't going to catch as often as he did this year. Jim Pruett, our new catcher, will help him."

Service Dept.
Marshall (Biggie) Goldberg has been re-assigned to the Fort Pierce, Fla., Naval Amphibious Base just in time to get into the Mphibs' few tough football games . . . Cpl. Bill Kell, who used to play basketball for Brown, has successfully introduced the "Firehouse" game at Walker Army Air Field, Kas. His team has scored 445 points in five games, going over the 100 mark three times . . . Ten years after he started at Michigan, Willis Ward is regular end on the Camp Lee, Va., football team. Ward, now 31 years old, recently graduated from Officers' Candidate School.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 21.—(AP)—George Oppenlander, 17-year-old Swarthmore College guard seriously injured in the Princeton game here Saturday, was reported by Princeton hospital officials yesterday as holding his own, with chances for recovery improving. Oppenlander suffered a ruptured kidney in a pile-up.

Chicago, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis and Mrs. Landis probably will have their Thanksgiving Dinner in St. Luke's Hospital where both have been confined for the past several weeks. Condition of Landis, who yesterday observed his 78th birthday in the hospital, was reported highly satisfactory but he protested mildly because his immediate release isn't in sight. Mrs. Landis is convalescing after suffering a fractured wrist.

New York, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Edgar P. Feeley was named Treasurer of the New York Giants to succeed the late Leo Bondy at a meeting of the board of directors. No successor to Bondy as Vice-president of the National League Club was elected although the firm of J. Norman Lewis and Feeley was picked to handle the organization's legal business.

A heat-resistant plastic or synthetic rubber, made from a new chemical compound, is expected to be of particular importance in electronics and wherever electric insulation at high temperatures is required. Tires made from this rubber are being tested on trucks and buses, and seem to be highly satisfactory.

Butaprene N, a synthetic rubber, is said to surpass natural rubber in its resistance to petroleum oils and grease.

Pennsylvania Hens Boosting Production

Harrisburg, Nov. 21—American chickens are getting better at their job of laying eggs.

Not only have they produced eggs in record numbers from record wartime farm flocks for the past two years, but they have become more efficient through laying more eggs per year per hen, according to records announced today by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture for the first four weeks of the 1944-45 Pennsylvania official egg laying contest.

In the last official Pennsylvania test, conducted in 1942-43, at the end of the first four weeks the 1,079 birds averaged 46.90 per cent production, or a little less than one egg every two days. In the current contest this percentage jumped to 65.50, or a gain of 18.60 per cent.

"Better breeding, efficient management and feeding appear to be the answer to this remarkable record," said E. J. Lawless, Jr., in charge of the poultry and egg division.

Points are awarded on weight of eggs, based on one full point for each 2-ounce egg. This year's 1-

196 birds from all parts of the United States so far average nearly 17 points per bird, compared with less than 13 points attained in the same period in the last contest.

The best pen after the first four weeks was reported to be one of Rhode Island Reds entered by the Harco Orchards Poultry Farm, South Easton, Mass., with a total of 331 eggs and 335.45 points.

Three Pennsylvania pens of White Leghorns rank among the first ten to date. The highest Leghorn pen ranks fourth in the entire contest. It is the entry owned by George M. Anthony, Strausstown, Berks county, 331 eggs and 315.15 points; eighth place is held by Burr's Poultry Farm, Tunkhannock, Wyoming county, 310 eggs and 302.0 points; ninth place is held by Guy A. Leader, York, 316 eggs and 301.75 points.

Timely Reminders From Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture

Mulch Strawberry Patch—Growers who have made a practice of mulching their strawberry plants as soon as the ground becomes well frozen have been doubly benefited. Extension fruit specialists of Pennsylvania State College say that mulching prevents heaving of the plants in winter and retards early blossoming in spring.

Control Onion Rot—Neck rot, a storage disease of onions, can be controlled, say extension plant pathologists of the Pennsylvania State College. They suggest harvesting in clear weather, drying well before storage, storing in slatted crates for circulation of air, and keeping the onions cool.

Poison Rats Now—With the coming of cold weather rats are entering barns and other farm buildings. Extension entomologists of Pennsylvania State College recommend the use of red squill powder in baits of cheap ground meat, canned fish, or cereals to poison the rats and thus avoid the damage they might cause.

Store Seed Potatoes—Where a satisfactory potato storage is not available, seed potatoes may be stored in an outdoor pit, say extension agronomists of the Pennsylvania State College. Detailed information may be obtained from county agricultural agents.

Light Helps Laying—Light has a stimulating effect on egg production, remind extension poultry specialists of the Pennsylvania State College, as they urge keeping windows and light bulbs clean in the poultry houses.

Improve Dairy Herds—Records kept in Pennsylvania show that proved dairy sires substantially improve the production of their daughters, report Penn State extension dairy specialists.

IN THE PHILIPPINES

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Hause, 18 Central avenue, have received word from their son, Richard F. Hause, that he has been in the Philippines writing, "they were sure glad to see us arrive and chase the Japs out". He also says "if some of the people in the United States could see the conditions under which the natives live under the Japanese, there would be less griping done."

Robert A. Jenkins, machinist mate 2/c, has returned to his base at Norfolk, Va., after a leave spent with his wife and two children, Warren, and his mother in Sheffield. While here he was guest of honor at a dinner party at Limberlost forty relatives and friends attending. He was presented with a purse of money.

2nd Lt. George H. Phillips, son of Mrs. Olive A. Phillips, 17 Schanz street, has reported to general instructors school at Randolph Field, Texas, for a four-weeks post-graduate course in specialized aerial instruction, according to word received from there today. Central Instructors' School, the army's only air school for pilot instructors, develops pilot-training technique and prepares instructor-trainees to pass on standardized flying knowledge to AAF training command cadets.

Times Topics

START COUNT TOMORROW
The Warren county commissioners will start at ten o'clock tomorrow morning on the tabulation of the soldier ballots received in the presidential election. All ballots received up to that time will be included in the canvass.

PAPER PICKUP
It is announced today at the local salvage office that Sugar Grove is to have a pickup on Friday and Saturday, November 24-25. Girl Scouts will make the collection under the direction of the school, and residents of the community are asked to have waste paper, magazines and cardboard properly bundled and ready when the girls make their calls. Also of interest today is presentation of a pennant at Kinzua for the record in collection for October.

DRAGONETTE OUT
Charles Brown is temporary editor of the high school "Dragonette" which made its first appearance today. Working with him are Connie Hall as assistant editor, Rowell Hoff as literary editor and Leland Daye as business manager. In greatly reduced form over last season, the publication still manages a fairly complete layout as to editorials, literary offerings, sports, news, features, club news, notes on music and news of service men.

Conference of Meat Packers And Retailers

A very interesting meeting was held in conjunction with the Meat Packers, Meat Retailers and Slaughterers on Thursday evening at 8:00 p. m. in the Erie Federal Building. About two hundred dealers were in attendance, at which time they were addressed by Joel H. Thornton, Chief of Meat, Fish, Poultry and Dairy Products Section of the New York Office, who gave them a very detailed explanation of the meat regulations. His talk was very well received by those in attendance, as it gave them first hand knowledge of the various regulations by a man who originally aided in setting up the various regulations, and who has a thorough knowledge of what the dealers must do in order to comply with them.

At the same time he had a question-and-answer period, which enabled the various dealers to present problems to him and be answered in a way that would be clearly understandable.

The dealers were addressed by Miss Edith Ellsworth, who has charge of the Price Panel operations for Region II, and she was able to enlighten them on the functions and purposes of the Price Panels in aiding the merchants to obtain information and pricing charts, in order that they could be up-to-date on the various changes which take place, and asked their cooperation in assisting the Price Panel members in any way they could do a better job for their community. William H. Longstaff, acting district price executive, was also introduced by Marshall Burd, Erie Price Panel Chairman of the War Price and Rationing Board who, in turn, gave a short talk on price control, compliance and cooperation.

State G. O. P. Organization Split Over President Protem

By Joseph H. Miller, in The Philadelphia Inquirer

The Republican organization is in the midst of a bitter fight over selection of the President Pro Tempore of the State Senate for the 1945 session of the Legislature, which convenes Jan. 2.

Although the organization forces are warring over the important legislative post, which controls important committee and conference assignments, behind the scenes the battle is between the oil and railroad interests.

Intensifying the battle is the fact that Senator Charles H. Ealy, Somerset county Republican, President Pro Tempore for the last two sessions, is not a candidate to succeed himself.

Republicans will have a working majority of at least 32 members in the chamber and control the committee assignments through the President Pro Tempore post.

The hitch, however, lies in the demand of Senator Leroy E. Chapman, Warren county physician interested in oil development, for the Senate post on the basis of seniority. He was first elected to the Senate in 1939.

But the railroad interests, who blocked Senator Chapman's elevation to the post two years ago by proposing the re-election of Senator Ealy to shatter one-term precedent and opposing the Warren legislator again by proposing Senator Charles R. Mallory, Blair county, who was elected to the chamber in 1934.

Mr. Mallory's backers are seeking to combat the seniority issue by pointing to the fact that Senator George Woodward, Chestnut Hill Republican, who has served in the Senate since 1918, has been bypassed for years.

So far Governor Edward Martin, who wants a unified Legislature to carry out his post-war program, has not taken a hand in the scrap.

However, in the event he does, arrived home for a few weeks stay.

Two truck loads of German War-prisoners, passed through Corydon Thursday, presumably bound for the prison camp at Bull Hill. It is rumored that 42 of the German prisoners are to be employed at a lumber camp on Quaker Hill.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist and Nazarene churches met for Red Cross sewing Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. B. M. Stoltz. Eleven ladies and four children were present, and the kit bags on hand were completed. After a devotional program and discussion of plans for a Christmas party, the meeting was brought to a close. Those in charge are very grateful for the assistance rendered to their Red Cross work.

It is possible he may suggest that Republican State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor, Senator from Dauphin county, be chosen as a compromise President Pro Tempore. Senator Taylor was first elected in 1940 and chosen for a new term this month.

The dispute over the President Pro Tempore post may not be settled until three doubtful Senatorial contests are determined in the State, so that the competing forces can ascertain what strength they have in a showdown.

The Republican membership of the Senate was increased to 32 yesterday when on the basis of the civilian returns in the Nov. 7 balloting, James S. Berger, of Potter county, was elected in the 25th district. He defeated John F. Boylan, McKean county Democrat.

The three doubtful districts which will be decided by the soldier ballots, are the 3d, Philadelphia, in which Senator H. Jerome Jaspian, Democratic incumbent, is leading John R. Meade, his Republican opponent; Cambria county and the Beaver-Lawrence area.

It is generally conceded that Senator Weldon B. Heyburn, of Delaware county, will be re-elected majority floor leader because of the successful manner in which he handled the post in 1943.

Meanwhile, the Republican leadership is greatly concerned about the outcome of the battle for control of the House. One hundred and five of the 208 membership are necessary for a constitutional majority.

With 14 districts in doubt until the soldier vote is computed, the Democrats appear to have 97 sure seats and need to win but eight of the doubtful contests to assure House control. Republicans are leading in the civilian vote in 13 of the doubtful contests and hope to retain their grip on the 110 seats after the soldier vote is computed.

However the Republicans are in danger of losing seven of the doubtful seats, and if it works out that way, the House would be evenly divided with each party controlling 104 votes.

If such a situation prevailed, the bid for control of the House would be complicated further due to the fact that one Democrat and two Republicans who have been elected to the lower chamber are in danger of losing seven of the doubtful seats, and if it works out that way, the House would be evenly divided with each party controlling 104 votes.

The move to put farm vehicles on rubber was begun in 1932, and within eight years 80 per cent of the nation's tractors were chugged from steel to rubber-tired wheels. Tests show the shift has come from 25 to 33 1/3 per cent in operating costs, and cuts operating time by one-third.

YOUNGVILLE NEWS

Youngville, Nov. 20—Mrs. C. C. Johnson entertained on Friday afternoon the Youngville Woman's Christian Temperance Union with about twenty present. Mrs. V. D. Smith presided. The roll call response was temperance sentiments taken from various sources including a number of scripture passages. Rev. J. L. Strong, pastor of the United Brethren Church lead the devotions concluding with a talk and reading. At the business session, plans were made for presenting in January a program at the school. Mrs. Smith headed a committee to make the necessary arrangements for this program which will either feature a moving picture or a guest speaker.

The president thanked the ladies for the subscription for the Union Signal, the national magazine of the WCTU. It was decided to order a number of posters to be used in Public and church schools. Mrs. H. H. Husted, local church school WCTU director, spoke briefly on the Temperance program in the four Sunday schools of our community.

Literature from the Citizens' Morale Survey of Pennsylvania of which Mrs. Ella A. Black, state president of the WCTU and Bishop G. D. Batdorf of the U. B. church are members of the executive committee were presented to the society. This report shows that there are moral conditions in Pennsylvania which need correcting. Mrs. O. B. Haupt lead the program, substituting for Mrs. Dwight Jack, who was unable to be present but sent a paper of interest concerning the work of the W. C. T. U. and some of the present needs in the organization. Interesting articles were read by Mrs. Frank Johnson, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Smith. The hostess was assisted in serving the luncheon by Mrs. J. L. Strong and Mrs. Wilson.

Matron and a number of the members had part in the evening's program.

Those present from Youngville were Mrs. R. L. Mead, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson, Mrs. Nellie Anderson, Mrs. Roy Crandell, Mrs. Vm. Clark, Mrs. H. H. Husted, Mrs. James Shippe, Miss Lillie Wood, Mrs. Perry Lindberg, Mrs. Harold Chipman, Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Mrs. Chappel, Mrs. Merle Kay, Mrs. W. H. Shortt, Mrs. Herbert Maaz, Mrs. G. E. Mix, Mrs. L.
